

What to do...

Body parts

Labels are a good way of helping young children to organise their writing. Help your child to sound out the words clearly but don't worry if they don't get the spelling correct. Encourage them to write each sound they hear in the word, e.g. 'elbo' instead of elbow is fine at this stage.

© Hamilton Trust, 2008. Y1.

1. Draw a BIG picture of yourself (your whole body!) on a piece of A4 paper (or bigger!).
 2. Remember to include all the different parts of your face (eyes, mouth etc).
 3. Look in a mirror or at someone else's face to help you draw.
 4. Now label all the different parts of your body that you can name.
 5. Draw lines between the body part and the word, so it looks like a DIAGRAM.
4. Don't worry if you don't know how to spell something exactly right. Have a go at sounding it out and try to write down all the sounds you can hear.

What are those things above my eyes called?

Eyebrows!