

What to do...

Can you remember any dreams?

Do you sometimes dream about nice things?

1. Draw a picture of a dream you like.
2. Write some sentences to describe it.

Listen to my dream

Writing about a dream can give your child a chance to produce a bit of imaginative writing. It doesn't really matter if the dream is real or not! Encourage children to think of nice things they might dream about and to draw and colour a good picture. Then they will be ready to write descriptively about their dream.

Last night I dreamt I found a yummy pile of dung beetles right outside my burrow. Then I went for a walk and found two of the most delicious and crunchy scorpions you have ever tasted, and for pudding I dreamt I dug up a big pile of yummy worms. Mmmmm delicious!
