

What to do...

1. Does anyone in your family know a story from another country?
2. Perhaps someone in your family learned different stories when they were a child in a different place?
3. Ask them to tell you a story, or you can read a book if you prefer.
4. Talk about the story together and see if you can remember it too.
5. Write down the name of the story and draw some pictures to help you remember what happens in it.
6. Bring the pictures into school.

Tales from other countries

In school we are learning traditional stories from many cultures. We are particularly interested in stories with patterns and repetition, which make them easier to remember. If you do not know any stories from other countries, perhaps you and your child can find a book to help you in the library!
